GRAFFITI - SPRAY-PAINTING 'TAGGERS' WILL BE - Seattle Post-Intelligencer (WA) - August 29, 1996 - page A18

Lest there be any confusion from your recent article describing the global travels of taggers as ``graffiti artists going international," those who do graffiti in Seattle should expect to go to jail or to do community services removing graffiti.

Spray-painting someone else's property without permission is vandalism, not ``art." Those whose artistic expression doesn't include asking the owner for permission will be prosecuted to the full extent of the law.
